I Need To Sleep

I need to sleep but I can't unwind
I'm tired of TV and I'm tired of wine
That leaves love but you're not going to play
I can tell from your face that you're not melting today

You're over analytical
Insanely critical
Hopelessly traditional
Typically irrational
Go find a friend in your high-speed crowd
Stay out late wishing I was loud

And I'll raise a glass and toast my fate
Of looking maxed out to be your hot date
Lose myself in a memory
Then warm the bed for you and me

Your tales are intellectual
You're quietly political
Your choice is unpredictable
Your public face is charming too
Scorn the supernatural
Memorize your trivia
Decree it and it's factual
Hypocrisy is part of you

Tell me about the scene I missed
Social commentarian
Culture authoritarian
Proprietor republican
A conspiracy report again
Your audience is bored again
A sermon must be short again

Let's sing a song from the 70s
Echoes of the early years
We moved in perfect harmony

Romance moments like a dizzy spell
Pour them on more often
A brew to cool and quell

I find my peace in my lonely time
Medication to subdue my indignation

Mortality is haunting you
But no one can be tougher too
Admit your hypochondria
Your mind's just playing tricks on you

You plan a fight your bite ain't right
You smell things and they sicken you
Your ails are symptomatic
Paranoia married Panic

I crossed the line I went too far
Your nerves are fried can't hear no more
The dog is whining by the door
You don't want to live no more

I won't go far I've left before
My mind is numbing
Can't remember what you called me
So don't ask me why I'm angry

I'll agree with your misery
Tomorrow I'll be soothing your deluded jealousy
And I'll raise a glass and toast my fate
Of looking maxed out to be your hot date
Lose myself in a memory
Then warm the bed for you and me

Raise a glass and toast my fate
Of looking maxed out to be your hot date
