Natalie

Tallie I'm home late again
Don't beat me with sad eyes
Let me climb beside you Tallie
Let me strip your tough disguise
I won't go far without you
Though I was bred to roam
I'm still so glad I found you
Every time when I come home

Tally all your reasons to give up and hit the road
Forget them in the morning
You won't wake up alone
I just wish you'd love me every night I make it home

Tally all my lame excuses
Tally all my rogue friends
Tally-ho you pretty misses
The fox has left the den
Tally one more for the road
'Cause I'm late again

Tally all my baggage
Still dragging it with me
I can't let go
I dredge it up
Natalie what I drag you through
I know it made me stronger
I was bold to disagree
I was scoffed and sanctified and told to lie
Now I lie to me

Tally all my lame excuses
Tally all my rogue friends
Tally-ho you pretty misses
The fox has left the den
Tally one more for the road
'Cause I'm late again

Funny when I whisper you hear me like I'm loud
But if I bellow like a circus master
I feel like a clown

I came across an artist
Who made me feel your pain
Failed in her lifetime and long forgotten now
I can't look too long 'cause I'm cursed with sympathy
Feels like I'm damaged and I need to feel free

Tally all my lame excuses
Tally all my rogue friends
The fox has left the den
Tally one more for the road
